This was Mr. Collins' favorite campus photographic study, and this was the last major picture he took.

IN MEMORIAM

"SEE MR. COLLINS" became the stock answer to any problem connected with pictures of events on Westminster campus. But those who knew him, and particularly his students, sought his advice on more than problems connected with photography.

He constantly adhered to the high standards of his profession, and his quick wit and ready humor made him invaluable in his dual job of professor of journalism and publicity expert. Inside or outside the classroom he never failed to help if he could. But even more important, if he did not know, he never wasted people's time by hedging, but promptly suggested another source of help.

A big man in every way, he did his job in such an effortless manner that few realized the amount of work he did to make Westminster's name known throughout the country.

No man disliked fuss or cant more than he, and as a student body we pay him our highest tribute by simply saying "We still miss him."

We proudly dedicate to Professor George C. Collins the Argo 1954, which tries to do the job at which he was so adept – present a pictorial record of past events.

ADMINISTRATION

THE PRESIDENT

No college president's job is easy, particularly when raising money to pay for heavy commitments is added to ordinary administrative duties. Dr. Will W. Orr came to Westminster in the spring of 1949. Since his arrival, in addition to his duties as chief administrator, he has travelled thousands of miles and made hundreds of speeches to raise money so that Westminster can have buildings of which she can be proud. We saw concrete evidence of the president's success early this year when the building fund shot over the million mark.

THE DEAN

The bench outside the dean's office needs little of the janitor's attention. It is so much used by people "waiting to see the dean." In his job as academic dean, Dr. William Vander Lugt's advice is frequently sought by both faculty and students. He lives by the philosophy he teaches, and during the three years he has been with us has encouraged many to keep on who would have given up.

In addition to his ability as an advisor he has wielded his influence in reorganization of the academic program, and thus tried to insure that Westminster should produce men and women who realize the meaning of life.

Dean of Women Helen Sittig and Dean of Men Wayne Christy need no introduction to any student who has been on the campus more than a couple of days. A description of their responsibilities would alone provide enough material for a book. Ranging from counseling to arranging the social program, theirs is a clock round all year job, and, being concerned as they are, with all students, it is surprising how they manage to mete out so much individual attention.

THE FACULTY

We seldom think of the difficulties we must present to the men and women who have the job of guiding our studies. Here we pay them tribute by saying thank you for the patience and perseverance they show in trying to equip us for the days that lie ahead.

THE COLLEGE STAFF

"Look at the record" is one of the many appeals politicians can use when seeking office. But often it is the only appeal possessed by students when looking for jobs. Sad is the case of the student whose record is not worth looking at, but it would be even more sad if that record were not kept efficiently. Here we say thank you to Miss Ramsey, our recorder, and her staff, because we know that no Westminster student has to fear that his record will not be presented correctly.

We glibly label "staff" the college people and jobs not connected with teaching, but no less vital to our life here. In the business offices, in the kitchens and about the grounds, the members of the staff labor all the year round, and here we say thank you for a job well done.

DR. FRANK McCLANAHAN

The students who made 9,000 visits to the college infirmary during the past year are familiar with Dr. McClanahan's green pills and paregoric cocktails, but few are aware of this remarkable man's background.

Just prior to coming to Westminster, Dr. McClanahan retired as Medical Superintendent of Assiut Hospital in Egypt. And in addition to 36 years medical experience in the Middle East, he has studied surgery in Austria and Switzerland.

It is Dr. Frank's extensive experience, plus the keen devotion to their jobs of the four college nurses, Mrs. Virginia Jones, Miss Emma Dodds, Mrs. Mary Temple, and Miss Ethel Zook, that gives Westminster students assurance of efficient medical attention should the occasion arise.

WESTMINSTER'S EXPANSION PROGRAM

In an effort to further serve the community in which it is situated, Westminster has undertaken two new projects during the past year. The first, in conjunction with officials of Jameson Memorial Hospital, New Castle, is a Nurses' Educational program, and the second is a college kindergarten. Organized for local children, the kindergarten is held in conjunction with the local school board and State educational authorities.

The past year has seen 23 new commuters on Westminster's campus. They are the group of nurses who come each day from Jameson Hospital, New Castle, in accord with arrangements made between officials of the college and hospital officials.

The girls have spent two semesters here, and each has acquired 17 hours credit in subjects most likely to be of use to them as nurses. In this way, their qualification of R. N. will mean more to them, and they will at the same time be better suited to succeed in their chosen vocation.

Dr. Frank McClanahan discusses future policy with Mr. J. F. Friedheim of Jameson Memorial Hospital.

CLASS OF 1967

"Johnny wants an airplane . . . . . "

By now Westminster people are aware that the "little people" are on the campus. They are the members of the college kindergarten. Every day during the past year, under the direction of Miss Beulah Campbell, Westminster elementary education majors have guided the activities of 45 five-year old children.

From this experience, the students have been able to put into practice knowledge acquired in class, and the children are better equipped for next year's first grade.

The satisfaction expressed by parents, children, and student teachers, confirms the evident success of this venture.

HOMECOMING

Mary Armstrong
Laura Russell, Dixie Walker, Barbara Dohn, Margaret Knoer,
Phyllis George, Mary Beth McIndoe

A keen wind cut across the new football field on Saturday afternoon October 18. It made students and guests whip their coats tighter, but did not detract from the pleasant spectacle of the Homecoming Queen, Mary Armstrong, and her court, when President Orr presented them at half-time. Nor did the cold wind prevent the Titans from snatching a 14-12 victory over Grove City college.

Preparations for the week-end involved much student planning and late hours, but the end result suggested they were justified. Beta Sigma Omicron won the sorority house decorations contest; Alpha Sigma Phi led the fraternities; and Browne Hall was voted the best decorated dormitory.

A combined student-alumni dance in Old "77" climaxed the day.

The following day, Sunday, the college choir made its contribution by an impressive rendering of Saul's "Holy City" at 3:30 p. m. and Homecoming week-end ended with a vesper service in the college chapel at 7:45 that evening.

CONVOCATION

The weather for Convocation could not have been more fitting on Tuesday, October 21, had it been specially ordered.

The principal speaker, Dr. Willis Everett Pratt, president of Indiana State Teachers' college, in his speech "America's Dilemma", gave us food for thought both as students and citizens.

Dean William Vander Lugt addressed the thirty students who obtained 2.75 or better academic standing this year, and our president, Dr. Will W. Orr, officiated in granting four honorary degrees.

Thirteen new faculty members were also officially presented.

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS WEEK

For almost 70 years Westminster has set aside one week when students not only sit and listen to ministers expound the Christian religion, but they are especially encouraged to ask the whys and wherefores. This year's Spiritual Emphasis Week was conducted by Dr. J. Calvin Reed, pastor of Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh. Dr. Reed's theme was "Victorious Living", and in addition to three services each day, plus student conferences around the campus, he was constantly besieged by students seeking the answer to personal and age-old problems.

That the week passed smoothly is tribute to the planning committee which, with Dr. George Bleasby as faculty advisor, consisted of Verlee Jones and Ed. Liddell.

"Democrat indeed! I'd be ashamed!"

"Mr. Titan—Meet the Press!"

"Four spades . . . . And New York isn't in yet."

"Well, we thought he'd make it. But not that much."

MOCK ELECTION

President Eisenhower was well aware of the honor paid him by the American nation on November 24, 1953. But it is unlikely that he was then, or is even yet aware of the honor paid him by the student body and faculty of Westminster college, New Wilmington.

As during the previous year, the Mock Republican Convention on our campus nominated General Eisenhower as its candidate, this year, the student body elected Mr. Eisenhower for United States President at the Mock Election.

The election, sponsored by Mr. Donald McKee and political science and history students, was an attempt to combat the apathetic attitude towards politics that seems to have prevailed for the past few years. The attempt was successful.

Voting took place during the day. Although slow at first, its rate accelerated with the day's progress, and a short time before the polls closed, it was positively brisk. Only pepole who had previously registered were permitted to vote.

As an added attraction, student council organized a dance in Old "77", starting at 9:00 p. m. Dancing there was, and much pop guzzling and pretzel munching, but the most entertaining spectacle was provided by the various committees as they posted the huge notice board as national election results spilled out of the TV and radio transmitters.

Women obtained one o'clock permissions, but as usual, the deadline approached all too quickly, and by midnight the less political-minded couples wandered away to attend to more mundane affairs.

Naturally, Democrats were not pleased at the outcome as were Republicans, but all were agreed that even the election results could not mar the pleasure derived from a mock election.

LECTURE SERIES

BERNARD IDDINGS BELL

The lecture series opened this year on October 30 by that master raconteur Ivan Sanderson giving his lecture "Adventures of a Roving Zoologist." Having made several global trips to collect animals for the British Museum, written six books, conducted eight tropical expeditions, and organized successful radio and television programs, Mr. Sanderson was well qualified to pack his talk with intense interest. Conversation on campus in the following days suggested that the zoologist swelled still more his already impressive list of natural science enthusiasts.

Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, formerly a professor at Columbia university, and connected with the teaching profession for 35 years, delivered the second lecture in the series on November 20. Canon Bell, with 21 leading magazine articles and 19 books to his credit, and on record as having lectured at Oxford, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Vassar, Westminster Abbey, and many English cathedrals, is a recognized Western authority on education. His talk, "Crisis in American Education" was well-named, and his remarks confirmed the dangers which await the American people if they do not guard against the apathy which seems to be displayed at the present time regarding the state of our educational system.

IVAN SANDERSON

HOWARD HIGGINS

LISA SERGIO

"Among the Spirits", a lecture given by Dr. Howard Higgins on Thursday evening January 15, proved to be an unusual program. Divided into two parts Dr. Higgins in the first half of his lecture made a good job of convincing many of the sceptical in his audience of the fact that there might after all be something in fortune tellers and their ilk. But then followed the expose'. By dint of pure scientific approach, Dr. Howard debunked any popular beliefs which might lend credence to the practices of mediums and fortune tellers.

We were sorry that Miss Lisa Sergio was prevented from delivering her lecture on world affairs. Many had been looking forward to seeing and hearing this remarkable woman who so distinguished herself during World War II. However, her substitute Miss Annette Snapper, gave us much to think about as American citizens in her lecture "Europe in Today's World." Miss Snapper spoke from first-hand observation, having recently spent considerable time in the homes of ordinary people in Europe. More important, she painted the picture as it really is, and not as we so often like to think of it.

Our Ogden Nash proved to be as popular on our campus in his speaking as in his writing. Bringing into play his experience of two decades, Mr. Nash confirmed in our mind that he will certainly go down in history as the leader in the field of his own particular brand of humor.

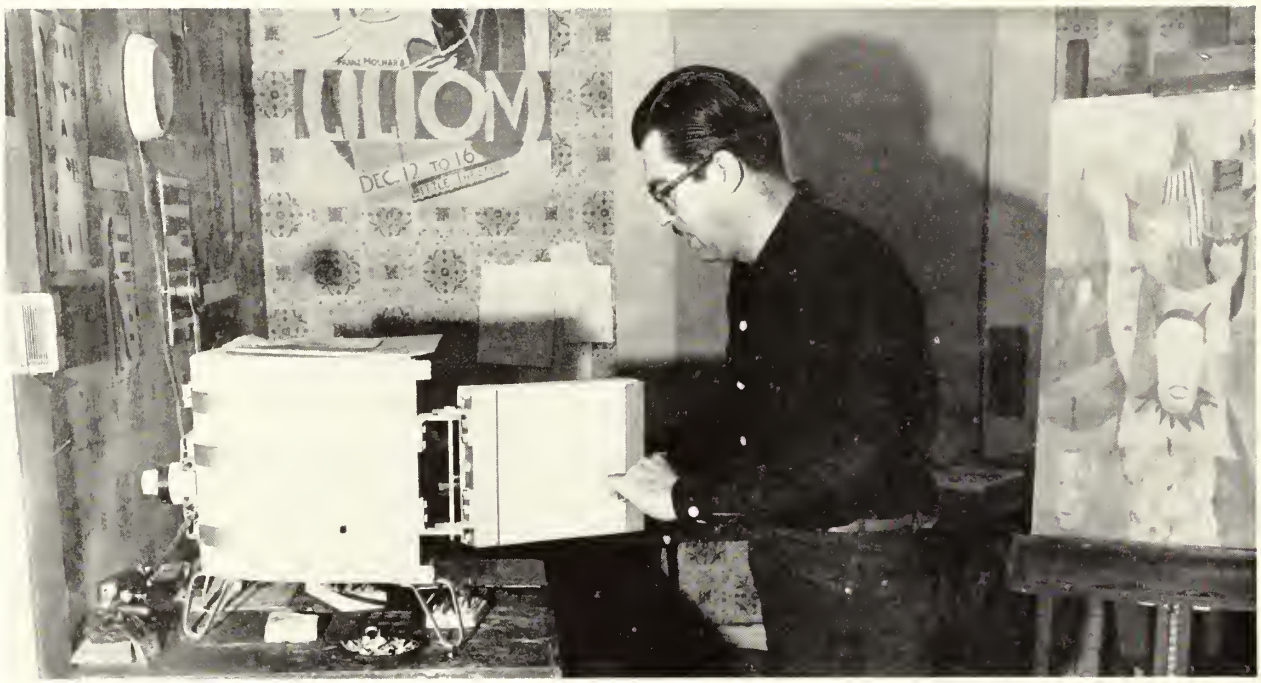
DEPARTMENTS

ART



Mr. George Faddis

Enameling, an age-old medium of art expression, has greatly stimulated interest in the already busy art department. The interest was motivated when students visited the Cleveland Museum of Art. There they saw the marvelous presentation of Byzantine enameled panels. The lasting beauty and color of these pieces motivated our students to themselves produce many beautiful pieces, specializing on enamel jewelry.

Self-portrait

Major and non-major students have contributed to the college through library exhibits, visits to art museums, and by assisting with special decorations for dance and theater productions. The Art Department has brought to its students a better understanding of the meaning of art and its relation to mankind and the history of the world.

BIBLE & PHILOSOPHY

Dr. Wayne Christy, Mr. Joseph Hopkins, Dr. John Orr, Dr. William Vander Lugt, Dr. Kenneth Smith.

A combined Bible major is offered for those intending to enter a seminary. This includes Bible, psychology, and philosophy. A straight Bible major is planned for students who plan to enter full-time Christian service after graduation. Students who plan to go into the Christian education field, may study for a major in Bible and a minor in education.

Next year required Bible courses will be changed. Evidence, ethics, and religions of the world will no longer satisfy the requirements. Instead, gospel history, Old Testament prophecy, wisdom literature, or the law, will enable students to fulfill Bible requirements.

Professors of the department sponsor Karux, a pre-ministerial organization, also gospel teams and Christian Service projects.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Miss Arlene Risher, Mr. George Watto, Mr. Robert Galbreath.

Formerly known as the Secretarial Science department, and affiliated with the Business Administration department, the Business Education department is now independent, and has a staff of three.

The department has a dual purpose. It is designed primarily for those students who plan to complete the four-year program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration in secretarial studies. The curriculum includes training in the basic secretarial skills and good teaching methods, plus a wide range of cultural courses.

Students can complete the secretarial course in two years.

Rho Gamma, business education honorary, was organized four years ago by students of the department. This organization brings personal relations closer among its members.

Head of the department is Mr. Robert Galbreath, Jr. Other faculty members are Miss Arlene Risher and Mr. George Watto.

Now is the time for all good . . . . . .

BIOLOGY

Mrs. Lucille Frey, Dr. Myron Simpson

Glow little glowworm

"You are being watched" could very well be the motto of the Biology department, as here goes on a ceaseless round of observation of matter, both still and moving. Neither does one need to lack for company here, as even when students and faculty have been long gone home, there always remain the lively little mice and the grinning skeletons.

During the past year, in addition to providing courses for regular students, the department has taught 25 student nurses from the Jamieson Memorial Hospital. They commuted each day, and studied under the direction of Dr. Myron L. Simpson and Mr. Hugh C. Rawls.

Much interest was shown in the genetric experiments conducted with four pairs of mice under the direction of Mrs. E. Lucille Frey, assistant professor. At the time of going to press the four had multiplied to fifty, and the department is anxiously looking to the time when they can occupy accommodation in the new science hall.

A varied assortment of new equipment has been acquired during the past year for use in anatomy, physiology and parasitology courses.

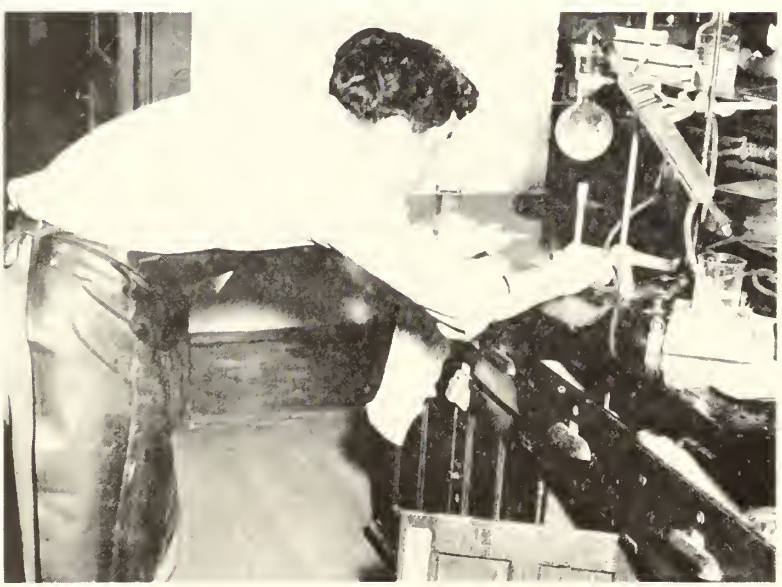
The Biology honorary, Beta Beta Beta carried out a valuable project last March in blood typing students on the campus. In addition, they have made several field trips and had the opportunity of hearing authoritative speakers in their own and related fields.

No spore thank you.

CHEMISTRY

Dr. Oliver Collins, Mr. Thomas Cummings

A watched kettle never boils



A cloud over Westminster's campus does not always indicate rain. It might be just the end of an experiment that one of the chemistry majors did not learn in class.

There is a variety of reasons why Westminster students study chemistry. As one of the three leading industries in the United States, chemistry offers an unsurpassed choice of vocational opportunities in the fields of atomic energy, medicine, metallurgy, and explosives. In addition, extensive research and application ensures rapid industrial expansion with a consequent increase in the opportunities available.

A number of students major in chemistry with a view to teaching, and among the non-majors are those who study chemistry so that, along with biology, physics, and mathematics, they may have an all-round scientific knowledge. Last of all, are the less fortunate who struggle through chemistry to fulfill the science requirement needed by students for a degree at Westminster.

The Chemistry Club, an organization of students who have taken at least a year of chemistry, was recently accorded the honor of affiliating with the American Chemical Society. Under its faculty sponsor, Dr. J. O. Collins, Chemistry department head, the club has an active program. During the past year, they have visited industrial plants, watched a number of movies, had several opportunities of listening to authorities in the chemistry field, and have exchanged visits with several neighboring colleges.

Mr. Thomas Cummings joined the department during the past year, and has taught courses in physical and organic chemistry. He replaced Mr. Edwin Pierce.

ECONOMICS & BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Samuel Sloan, Mr. C. W. McKee, chairman; Dr. Zita Hanford, Mr. Ronald Jones

The Business and Business Administration department during the past year has made its annual contribution to industry. Majors have left the department to enter various industrial fields, and put into practice the principles and knowledge absorbed at Westminster.

Students are given an extensive background in the basic principles of accounting, economics, and business administration. They are also kept up to date with the latest developments in production, consumption and economics.

In the field of industrial relations, specific labor and administration problems are studied, and this study is supplemented by actual practice in industry.

The Economics and Business Administration Department strives to ensure a future supply of men fitted to fill the needs of business and industry.

Dr. Hanford returned to the department at the beginning of the year. Also new to the department were Mr. Ronald Jones, Mr. Robert F. Miller and Mr. R. Richman. Mr. Richman was, before coming to Westminster, a practicing attorney at law in Chicago. Also at midsemesters Mr. McKee, chairman of the department, was granted sabbatical leave and Mr. Samuel Sloan was appointed temporary chairman.

EDUCATION & PSYCHOLOGY DEPARTMENT

First Row: Dr. Gildo Santivicca, Miss Beulah Campbell, Miss Alegra Ingleright, Mr. John Edwards.

With America's ever-increasing demand for certified teachers, Westminster's education and psychology department continues to expand. Under the direction of Dr. L. H. Wagenhorst, the department has two divisions. On the education side, Dr. Wagenhorst teaches a number of courses, and the majority of the elementary education courses are taught by Miss Beulah Campbell and Miss Allegra Ingleright. Mr. Ernest L. Saul, who joined the department during the past year, teaches part time.

A varied selection of psychology courses is made available to students under the direction of Mr. Claude Eckman, Mr. John Edwards, and Dr. Gildo Santivicca. This section of the department also provides various psychological testing services which prove of great value to students in planning their curricula.

The kindergarten, under Miss Campbell's direction, started by the college at the beginning of the year, has proved to be a worthy project. Not only has this provided a service to the community's children under school age, but it has given elementary students a good opportunity to use the knowledge they have gained in the classroom. Similarly, the kindergarten has provided psychology students with valuable case histories, and the recording of these has not only given the students good practice, but insures the availability of information for use with those who come after.

Once upon a time . . . . . .

ENGLISH

The English department has been pleased with the results obtained by the tachistoscope, a recent addition to the course in remedial reading. The machine consists of a powerful light, a lens, and a time meter which may be operated from one second to one hundredth of a second. Slides of numbers, words, phrases, and sentences which vary in complexity, are flashed on the screen. The tachistoscope is used to aid the student in seeing the word combinations more rapidly. Any increase in word perception is automatically transferred to his own reading. Through the use of a series of slides, illustrating word formations, the student also increases his vocabulary.

Dr. John Forry, Dr. George Bleasby, and Dr. Myrta McGinnis were in charge of the poetry reading festival this year. Reading trials began in mid-January and finals were held on February 16 in Ferguson Hall lounge. The purpose of the festival was to encourage oral interpretation of literature. Drawing as many as forty contestants, the program stimulated a general campus interest in the reading of poetry.

Outside reading due . . . . . .

A course in English grammar was added to the curriculum during the past year, and it is felt that this will be greatly appreciated by grammar-weak students. The department has added several poetry and drama records to its collection, and has begun to collect a library of film strips of various periods of English literature.

HISTORY, SOCIOLOGY

"All aboard! Manhattan Limited leaves Old "77" at 10 o'clock!"

A great deal of excitement was in the air the night two special buses left our campus to take a group of civic-minded students to tour the United Nations building. In this way they supplemented their knowledge of past history gained in class here with watching history being made. Students who were fortunate enough to go on the tour, not only saw the backroom boys and various secretariat battle with the mountains of correspondence, which naturally accompany any international organization, but were able to sit in on one of the U. N. meetings and hear samples of the negativism which daily pour from representatives of the dark side of the Iron Curtain.

and POLITICAL SCIENCE

This department also sponsored the mock election, and its majors were the chief organizers of the balloting and recording arrangements.

There was great enthusiasm from all branches of the school for the International Relations club organized at the beginning of the second semester. Each week they met to discuss current international problems, and in April, opportunity was afforded for the club members to see our government at work, when a trip was organized to Washington.

This year the department has had an almost completely new staff. Dr. Jamieson was appointed head of the department, Dr. Delber McKee joined Dr. Ridge to teach history, Mr. Donald McKee was appointed to teach political science, and Mr. Carl Waisenen taught sociology.

JOURNALISM

Miss Elizabeth Nixon, Mr. George Collins

Ding! Ding! Ding! . . . . Non-journalism students must often wonder why, every so often, the sound of three little bells ringing comes from the news bureau on the fourth floor of Old Main. Each time the little bell rings three times is a warning that another world-stirring event has recently happened, and that the U. P. machine set up there is about to permit Westminster's journalism students to obtain the news just as quickly as the editorial desk on the New York Times or any other large newspaper. Having the opportunity of editing the U. P. bulletins each day is just one of the projects which adds interest to the news writing and reporting class. Members of this class also edited the New Wilmington Globe and the Ellwood City Ledger.

During the past year, members of the senior seminar class produced Seed and Silo, a newspaper designed to interest the local farm communities. This project gave the seniors experience in assembling and publishing news, and at the same time, provided good publicity for Westminster.

Several members of the department's Specialized Press class had experience in working on publications at Standard Oil Company, Joseph Horne's, Sylvania, and Universal Rundle.

In addition to the above, journalism students published the Holcad, Westminster's weekly newspaper, and the department was well represented on the staff of the 1954 Argo, and the spring and fall issues of Scrawl, the school's literary magazine.

The department felt keenly the death of Mr. George Collins last November, and students tried to show their appreciation of him by rallying under Miss Nixon and continuing the school's publicity program, until the arrival of Mr. Robert Carey at the beginning of the second semester.

Mr. Carey is a graduate of Westminster, and since leaving, has had experience in the newspaper field, and prior to coming to Westminster was associate editor of H. J. Heinz employee publications.

But are you sure that's what you use?

Let's try this idea

LANGUAGE

Mr. Thomas Wiley, Dr. J. Hilton Turner, Dr. Gilbert Taylor, Miss Alice Ligo, Mr. Walter Biberich.

A visitor to Old Main's top floor any morning during the past year would have thought a class had strayed from the Music Conservatory. But the music would be coming from one of Herr Biberich's German classes. This is one of the unusual methods used to instruct the various languages offered each semester in Westminster's language department.

With Dr. Turner's arrival during the past year, courses in Latin have again been offered. This language is of special value to pre-ministerial, pre-medical and pre-science students. In addition, the teaching profession urgently needs people qualified to teach Latin.

Also during the past year, Dr. Taylor, head of the department, taught German and Latin, Mr. Wiley has taught Spanish, and all the French classes have been taught by Miss Ligo.

We want more Labensraum . . . . . .

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics, one of the original "four liberal arts", is no longer required at Westminster for a liberal arts degree. Yet to meet the needs of students preparing for careers in engineering, science, or math an extensive program is offered.

Since even the first course in college mathematics presupposes a background of high school algebra, many students, because of inadequate training, avoid any further work in this subject. Keeping in mind the preparation of such students, the department is again offering a course in algebra adjusted to their needs.

Kappa Mu Epsilon, the national honorary in mathematics has a chapter on Westminster's campus. Membership is by invitation, and is extended only to those students who meet certain scholarship requirements. Among other activities, the honorary awards a prize each year to an outstanding student in the freshmen mathematics course.

Paul Brown is acting head of the department; assisted by Merrill Palmer, who was recently added to the staff as an instructor. George Conway, assistant professor in the department, is on leave of absence this year.

Mr. Paul Brown and Mr. Merrill Palmer

Never could draw a straight line.

MUSIC

First Row: Mr. Dallmeyer Russell, Miss Dorothy Kirkbride, Miss Mary Scanlon.
Second Row: Mr. Donald O. Cameron, Mr. Clarence Martin, Mr. Alan Davis, Mr. Arthur Birkbe.

Make a joyful noise

The music department, being progressive, is constantly looking ahead, and takes advantage of any new equipment that can be obtained to help its students. With high fidelity recording equipment, students have the opportunity to record and then improve their performance by listening to themselves on the play-back.

The head of the department, Mr. Donald O. Cameron, teaches violin, orchestration, courses in theory and harmony, and also directs the band and orchestra. Assisting him are Mr. Alan B. Davis, instructor in voice and conducting; Mr. Clarence Martin, voice and fine arts music teacher, and director of the college choir. Miss Dorothy Kirkbride teaches piano, junior harmony, form and analysis; Miss Mary Scanlon is responsible for music education courses, dictation, sight- and fine arts music teacher, and director of the women's glee club. Mr. Arthur Birkby, the college organist, in addition to instructing in that instrument, teaches composition and history of music.

With this impressive list of faculty members, and the variety of courses offered, it is understandable that students are able to get experience in every phase of music.

The records of past students prove that Westminster students are well equipped when they graduate from the music department.

PHYSICS

Dr. James Swindler, Dr. Robert Woods

This year the physics department is planning to occupy part of the new Science Building. It wants to develop research, and there are three fully equipped rooms just for this purpose. The unusually big store room (22' 10" by 52') will be used for both demonstration and laboratory equipment. The demonstration table can be set up in the store room and wheeled into the lecture room preventing loss of time and confusion between lectures. There is also a small lecture room to replace room 23.

The objectives of the department are to train majors for the teaching profession and prepare students for work in engineering, industry, and graduate school.

The physics department has the 3-2 plan for engineers with Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pennsylvania State college and Lafayette college. The physics club was reorganized this year under the guidance of Dr. Woods.

The professors in the physics department are Dr. James A. Swindler and Dr. Robert M. Woods. Dr. Swindler is the oldest active member of the faculty.

This year the physics department bought a Spitz Planetarium which produces stars of the third magnitude. It has adjustments for the sun, moon, five planets, latitudes all over the earth, and co-ordinated system of ecliptic, meridian, and equator of the sky. It is also capable of showing Andromeda Nebula and megelantic cloud plus a few others. The stars can be shown for daily motion anywhere on the earth's surface.

Which way's progress?

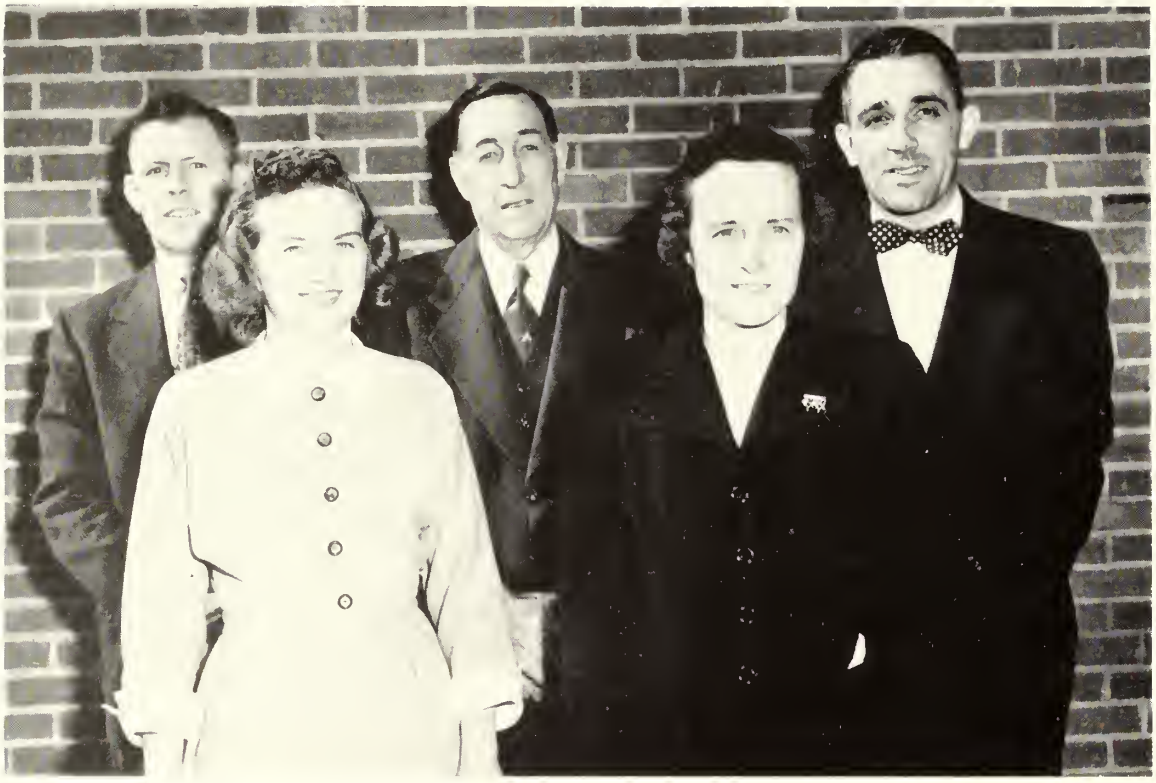
PHYSICAL EDUCATION



Mr. Charles Ridl, Miss Margaret McBride, Mr. Grover Washerbaugh, Mrs. Helen Williams, Mr. Harold Burry

All students cannot be athletic "stars", but fortunately, one does not have to be a "star" to enjoy athletics. Westminster's Athletic department organizes its program to enable students to maintain an all-round physical and mental balance, and at the same time, learn to appreciate the enjoyment to be found in athletic pursuits.

Physical education is compulsory at Westminster for freshmen and sophomores, but to many students, it quickly becomes more than just another subject. The head of the department is Mr. Grover Washabaugh, and under his direction the other faculty members divide the department's activities. Mr. Harold Burry, specializes as a swimming instructor, Mr. Charles Ridl and Miss Margaret McBride specialize in men and women's physical education respectively, and Mrs. Helen Williams instructs girls' hygiene classes.

Swimming instruction is particularly stressed for both men and women, and there is no excuse for any student leaving Westminster and not being able to swim, unless handicapped by some physical disability. Also emphasis is put on the value of life-saving knowledge, and classes are held throughout the college year, under Mr. Burry's instruction, by which students may obtain nationally recognized Red Cross qualifications in this subject. Being qualified in this way has enabled a number of Westminster students to obtain summer jobs as lifeguards at beaches, camps, and in public parks.

The Physical Education department also conducts an active extra-curricula program. In addition to the main college football, baseball, track, swimming, basketball, golf, and tennis teams, intramural sports for both men and women play an important part in student life.

Women's intramural sports are sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association (W. A. A.). Competitions are held between the sororities and Quadrangle in basketball, volleyball, and swimming, and a cup is awarded for the winners in each sport.

Similar competitions are sponsored for the men by Inter-fraternity council. Teams from the four fraternities compete in touch football, basketball, ping-pong, and soft ball during the respective seasons.

Members of the Physical Education department faculty naturally take a great interest in intramural sports organization, and they are always on hand ready to supply their expert advice when needed.

There's a time for everything . . . .

SPEECH

Mr. James Lewis, Mr. Donald Barbe, Mr. William Burbick, Mr. Melvin Moorhouse.

The Speech department, with its three main divisions of theater, radio, and various types of speech education, offers many extra curricula activities for student participation.

Following a definite policy to give students experience of as many types of plays as possible, the Little Theater has produced four outstanding productions during the past season. The first, "State of the Union", was a timely play, held to coincide with the time when we were thinking about going to the national polls. Next followed "Kind Lady", and for International Drama Month last March, we saw a brilliant performance of Shakespeare's "Hamlet". The last major production was "The Silver Cord." Packed houses, and a demand for more was sufficient proof of the success of the ventures, and was some justification for the hard work of Mr. Donald Barbe and his assistant Mr. W. G. Burbick in the Speech department, and the students who took part.

The voice of CGA

The numerous speech honoraries have been equally active. Masquers, the campus dramatic honorary, sponsored all-college tryouts at the beginning of the year to scout out talent to ensure the continued success of the Little Theater.

Last spring saw the birth of a new chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, the national dramatic fraternity, on Westminster's campus. It started with an enthusiastic crowd of thirteen charter members, and promises to justify its existence just as well, if not better, than the other honoraries.

Students from 15 schools in the Tri-State area again saw what Westminster speech students do, when they attended the High School clinic sponsored each year by the department.

Curtain time

WRW, the radio group, produced several radio shows, and were also responsible for the public address system at basketball and football games. Members also participated in broadcasts over WPIC Sharon and WKST New Castle. A number of beginners were introduced to this work through the Collegiate Guild of the Air under Mr. James Lewis' direction.

Mr. Melvin Moorhouse's debate team created an equally good record this year. After taking part in tournaments at various colleges and universities, they were invited to take part in the national tournament, and came out with a very good average.

C. Y. F.

During the past year, C. Y. F. has come to mean more on Westminster's campus than three letters chosen at random from the alphabet. Nor have its activities been confined to one meeting at 6:30 each Sunday evening in the U. P. church basement. With a membership of over 90 students, this organization has developed a foreign mission, sponsored the showing of all-college Christian films on the campus, and introduced many well-known Christian leaders as Sunday evening speakers. In March, C. Y. F. members held a highly successful week-end conference, and this, along with similar events, proved to be a distinct influence for good.

The organization's officers last year were Edwin Urban, president; Charles Watt, vice president; Merle Leak, treasurer; and Margaret Jones, secretary. Faculty sponsor was Dr. Kenneth Smith.

ATHLETICS

FOOTBALL

By winning six games out of eight, 1952 Westminster foobtall Titans made the best record in 39 years. Outstanding throughout the season was the fine passing of quarterback Dick Banick and the running of Carl Mantz, Tom McGrath, and Larry Verone.

Banick completed 65 passes in 125 attempts for 1000 yards and 13 touchdowns. Mantz averaged 5.8 yards for 76 attempts, and McGrath in 55 tries averaged 5.9 yards, while Verone gained 226 yards in 74 tries.

Starting at home against Juniata, Westminster won the game in the final period on touchdown passes from Banick to Mantz and Sistek. Banick threw passes for all Westminster scores.

At Greenville, the Titans took a 14-7 lead at halftime, and stretched it to 28-7 at the end of the third quarter. In winning their third straight victory over Bethany, Westminster was in complete command, taking a 13-0 lead in the first period and stretching it to 33-0 at the half.

Co-Captains Richard Banick and Lawrence Verone

Against Grove City in the Homecoming game, the Titans had to come from behind in the last quarter. Taking a 7-0 lead, the Blue and White fell behind 12-7 going into the final quarter. A Banick to McGrath pass won the game for the Titans 14-12.

Geneva college proved a stubborn opponent on the home field, the final score being 7-0 for the Titans.

In the final home game, Waynesburg dropped Westminster from the ranks of the unbeaten, and the final score was 35-27 in Waynesburg's favor.

Back on the winning trail at Meadville, the Titans built up an early lead and coasted to a 26-20 win over the Gators. Carl Mantz scored three touchdowns.

Slippery Rock maintained their 17-year jinx over Westminster by beating them 14-6 in the season's finale. The Blue and White took a 6-0 lead, but the Rockets came back strong in the second half to win the game.

The Titans scored 168 points to their opponents' 114. Carl Mantz led the Titan scorers with eight touchdowns for 48 points. Tom McGrath scored six touchdowns and Bob Sistek had 34 points on three touchdowns and 16 conversions in 22 attempts.

Coach Harold Burry, along with his Assistant Coaches Ridl and George Watto, has good reason to be proud of the season's record, and feel that the hard work has been well worthwhile.

BASKETBALL

The past year was a hard pull for the Titans basketball team, but to the credit of the men and their coach, is the fact that they never lost their fighting spirit. This was so much evident when they played at Madison Square Garden on February 12, that they merited the praise of several New York sports writers. Opinion of the "gentlemen of the press" was that the Titans were the best small college to appear in the Gardens during the year.

Although defeated in their first two games, against St. Bonaventure and the Pitt Panthers, the Blue and White rallied in their third game against Bethany at home, and in a thrilling game, defeated the West Virginians 76-73. Neff was high for the evening with 26. Tranter had 19, and Bob Hettler for the visitors also had 19.

Another close game followed against St. Francis on December 16. Westminster had the highest scorer of the evening in Jerry Neff with 22, but in the final result the Loretto men led by two points.

The game just prior to Christmas vacation proved a victory for the Titans against Carnegie Tech. Westminster maintained big leads at the end of each quarter, and at one time in the last period was ahead by 15. The Blue and White's Ron Tranter tied with Tech's Ralph Mocker for scoring honors, each player having 21. Another high scorer for the Titans was Bob Dugan with 17.

The Presidents defeated Westminster in the first game of the New Year, scoring 72 against 54. But it was a good game, and commentators agreed that there was good play on both sides. Jerry Neff and Joe Richards of W. & J. each had 17 points.

Record: 10 - 13

The New Year's second game on January 7 presented a brighter picture, and the end of the evening saw the Titans with an 83-59 victory against the Waynesburg Yellow Jackets. A score of 20 points by Bob Burns topped scoring levels. Jerry Neff, Ron Tranter, and Dick Black had respective scores of 19, 17, and 14, for the Titans.

Another victory followed for Westminster at the Memorial Field House. Then, in an overtime thriller, the Titans revenged themselves on W. & J., and took the Prexies in the extra session, 59-56. Westminster's Ron Tranter scored a high of 21 points.

The remainder of the season was a series of wins and losses. After being upset by Allegheny 'Gators on January 13, the Titans brought their record back to .500 on January 17 by defeating Youngstown Penguins 75-72. Three more losses followed, but they came back again in the last game before finals, and came out over Maryland St. college of Princess Anne, Md. 72-67. After two more victories for opponents, Westminster made their best appearance of the season at Madison Square Gardens. There they played nip and tuck with the Redmen the whole game. With less than a minute remaining, Westminster led 68-67, but a jump shot from the Redmen's Marty Satalino gave them the game. The Titans' Ron Tranter was the game's high scorer with 23 points.

After another loss, the Blue and White inflicted a second defeat of the season on Youngstown Penguins. This was a thrilling double overtime contest with the final score 93-86.

For their final road appearance the Titans defeated Juniata 77-65. The Indians led at halftime by three points, but the Blue and White rallied to win in the second half. Jerry Neff topped all scores with 27 points.

Despite the setbacks, the season finished with Coach Grover Washabaugh still maintaining a better than 70 per cent average.

SWIMMING

The Titan swimming team established further new records during the past year. The team, under Coach Harold Burry, won five matches out of ten, and in the final match for the Penn-Ohio championship at Carnegie Tech pool, finished with fifth place.

Harry Sampson captained the squad, and a new record for the breast stroke was set by Westminster's Fred Wagner. At 2:34.5 he broke the record of 2:36.1, previously held by Dave Luckey of Carnegie Tech.

Party Line

Alpha Gamma Delta has extended the right hand of fellowship for another year of work and play.

Our first social event was a Mexican houseparty after Homecoming week-end. Laura Russell was our Queen candidate. The all-sorority Hallowe'en party rounded out the October activities.

A snowball fight between actives and pledges began the pre-Christmas events. We "slumbered" at the house December 5 in honor of the pledges, and then decorated our Christmas tree for the last house party of 1952.

Back for 1953, the girls worked on plans for a children's party, and for the traditional competition of Sing and Swing. Friday February 13 was a big night for us. We had our all-college dance. The Alpha Gams were a busy group this year.

Time for all good girls to be in bed

Our graduating seniors presented the sorority with a crested plaque to commemorate Delta Taus becoming the Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta in 1925.

I'm starved!

After the upperclassmen got over the excitement of the extensive house repairs last summer, Beta Sigma Omicron began the fall term earnestly working on Homecoming decorations. This year the Beta Sigs took the cup with the help of a "Block W" puppet and a co-ed puppet holding a sign saying, "We don't have to pull any strings to welcome you back, Alumni". Barbie Dohn was the girls' candidate for Homecoming Queen.

Autumn was the theme for the October house party, and the one in December featured a South Sea Island background and sarongs for "Christmas on Christmas Island". Also in December there was a slumber party for the actives and the twenty-one pledges. The pledges also held a tea for the fraternity pledges in December. The first semester ended in style with the sorority's informal dinner-dance at Criswell's.

Spring activities included a house party given by the pledges in March, an intersorority ice cream social in honor of the seniors, and daily rehearsals for Sing and Swing. The Spring Formal on May 15, and the picnic on the 16th, climaxed the year's social events.

Officers for 1952-1953 were: president, Barbara Spencer; vice president, Nancy Wiggins; treasurer, Marilyn Eastham; secretary, Kathleen McBride.

Beta Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Omicron was initiated at Westminster on May 25, 1937. Prior to this time it had been a local sorority called Omicron Nu Gamma.

Chi Omega's first project this year was to spruce up the house. Supplied with hoes, rakes, shovels and buckets, some of us charged on the pond, while others worked in the kitchen, washing dishes, cleaning cupboards, and taking inventory of supplies for coming social activities.

Our October houseparty was "The Stork Club". Colored streamers, candlelight, and the swish of taffeta added to the atmosphere of the occasion.

Many of Mother Goose's children came "out of Storyland" to be with us for Homecoming. Every member had a hand in the painting of nursery rhyme characters for our storybook, and turning the pages for our readers. Peggy Knoer was our candidate for queen.

First Row: Gretchen Schumacher, Doris Shoaf, Gretchen Molstad, Alice Davis, Sarah Croker, Carolyn Hoffman.

Second Row: Kay Simmons, Marjorie Harrison, Velma Harl, Carole Davey, Carole Williams, Ruth Girty.

Third Row: June Brickley, Judith Merrick, Helen Tombor, Marguerite Mershimer, Margaret Esler.

Entertaining by our annual all-sorority breakfast certainly was a tasty idea. Blueberry pancakes and hot coffee are always sure to make a hit.

Our Sherwood Forest party for freshman women brought seventeen more members to Robin Hood's band, and to ours as well. After their pledging ceremonies, we had dinner at the Tavern.

The first week-end after Thanksgiving was the event we wait for every year—the slumber party. After eating, singing, and other entertainment, we finally did manage to get a few hours sleep before those dreaded eight o'clocks.

Other activities of the Chi Omegas' throughout the year were Sing and Swing, and the dinner dance in May.

Kadie, a brown French poodle complete with kinky hair, moveable eyes, and a hungry look, took possession of the Kappa Delta house during Homecoming. A sign advertised the sorority's sentiment toward the Alumni—"No Bones About It! We're Doggone Glad You're Here." The KD's had another reason to be glad. Mary Armstrong was chosen Homecoming Queen.

Sorority Fall activities included a weiner roast for the members and their dates at Barbe's, the Koffee Kozy; and all-sororities get-together; a spaghetti dinner at Barbe's in honor of the 14 new pledges; and a new innovation, the pledge dance, which formally introduced the pledges to Kappa Delta members and their friends.

Dorothy Veon, Province President, visited the chapter during December.

In March the pledges held a surprise party for the actives. True to tradition, the party remained a secret until the eventful night.

Sugar and Cream?

Alpha Phi chapter's activities were led during 1952-53 by Phyllis Dolsen, president; Dorothy Louise Smith, vice president; Katherine Mason, secretary; and Ruth Rickloff, treasurer.

First Row: Shirley Metzger, Sally Charles, Mary Armstrong, Marjorie Miller, Marian McConnell, Carol Taylor, Nancy Young.

We sing "Sigma Kappa's on the ball" for a reason. The year started with a bang. First came the Autumn week-end with its Homecoming decorations. The girls worked hard on their theme, "The Titan Train That Could", and did pull the Westminster Eleven to victory. Dixie Walker was our candidate for Homecoming Queen.

The first houseparty of the year was a weiner roast in the college woods. Afterwards, the Sigma's and their dates returned for dancing and hot chocolate at the house, which was decorated with Jack-O-Lanterns and corn stalks.

In November, at a Tavern dinner, Sigma Kappa welcomed 17 new pledges. Lila Jones, Province President, attended the pledging ceremonies.

The weather outside is frightful

December was the highlight of 1952. On the fifth, a Slumber Party was held for both actives and pledges. Pledges provided the entertainment. An inter-sorority card pary was given by Sigma's on December 11. Also during this month they enjoyed the Christmas party given by the patronesses.

The New Year saw even more activities. In January the pledges had charge of a house party which was a great success. Then the Sigma's began to practice diligently for Sing and Swing. The Spring formal at the New Castle country club climaxed the year's activities.

The 1952 officers were Dorothy Alexander, President; Jean Gresh, first Vice President; Margaret Snyder, second Vice President; Gretchen Speidel, Secretary; and Dixie Walker, Treasurer.

Sigma Phi Delta, later known as Sigma Kappa, was founded on October 26, 1922, at Westminster by seven girls under the leadership of Rebecca Givson. The sorority originated as a scholarship organization. In 1926, the local group became Alpha Sigma of Sigma Kappa. This is the oldest sorority on campus, and was the fifth national to bear a Greek name.

September brought Theta Upsilon back again to its whirl of activity. It wasn't long before the buzz of homecoming was heard, and Elliot House was hidden behind a giant handprinted newspaper. The Republican elephant and Democrat Donkey made the headlines with a unifical "Welcome Home Alumni!" Phyllis George was candidate for Homecoming Queen.

The first houseparty found the Theta U's and their dates pulling charred weiners and gooey marshmallows from the fire at Mr. Moorehouse's farm.

Rushing was climaxed with an elaborate Indian pow-wow. Ten new pledges entertained the actives at a slumber party in December, and they in turn were honored at the Christmas party. The chapter paid tribute to our patronesses, and introduced them to our pledges at a tea given late in December.

Many new recipes were tried out this year due to the two new attractions in the kitchen, namely a refrigerator and a stove.

An all-sorority Donut Dunk at the house and participation in volleyball, basketball, and swimming intramurals kept the members busy until spring when plans for Sing and Swing and the Spring Formal came into the spotlight.

Officers in 1952 were Beverly Mergner, president; Nancy Angrilli, vice president; Marilyn Marshall, secretary; and Shirley Oakley, treasurer.

Our Susie Q party for freshman women set off the year's events. Twenty-two new members were welcomed into the group at a luncheon in Rev. and Mrs. White's home. Later in the year, a dinner and initiation service were held in the Tavern. Mary Beth McIndoe represented Quadrangle as candidate for Homecoming Queen, and a display in Ferguson Hall was our contribution to Homecoming decorations.

Members and their dates attended "State of the Union" in a group, and completed the evening's entertainment with a Halloween party. During the year we sponsored an all college record dance and entertained the sororities at a bridge party.

To close the year, we held an annual Spring formal and picnic.

The 1952 officers were Lynette Giffen, president; Kay Fairlamb, vice president; Pearl Mosley, secretary; Connie Mabon, treasurer. Dr. Amy Charles was sponsor.

Quadrangle was organized at Westminster in 1941. In 1948, the group joined the National Independent Student Association.

Alpha Sigma Phi started the ball rolling this year by re-decorating the interior of the house. We also covered the steps leading to the second floor with rubber tile.

As soon as we had finished redecorating we found Homecoming upon us. The house was soon found to be a mass of cardboard and paint, and from this mass we created our prize winning theme of "The Steamrollers Ball". We created a scale model steamroller on the lawn, complete with steam and motion, knocking down the goal posts of Grove City. At the controls of the steamroller sat a Titan football player. This made it the second year in a row we have won Homecoming decorations.

Our social calendar was quite full this year. We transformed our house into a "speakeasy" for our "Roaring Twenties" houseparty, and following it in November the house became a hunting lodge for our "Hunting" houseparty. Late in the fall we held our serenade for our brothers who became pinned, and soon after it we held our annual Christmas serenade to all the dorms and sorority houses.

In November we purchased a new TV set for the house, and to help celebrate the new TV set we took in thirty new pledges.

We held our Christmas formal this year at the Ellwood City Country Club and later on in the spring we held our Spring Formal in Pittsburgh. Also in the spring we participated in Sing and Swing.

Alpha Sigma Phi came to Westminster in 1939 when Phi Pi Phi, a local, united with Alpha Sigma Phi. Before becoming Phi Pi Phi it was an eating club known as the Crescent Club.

Phi Kappa Tau, the school's youngest fraternity, began the year by completely repainting the outside of the house. Many of the members arrived at school a week early to help with the work. Later a new TV antenna was purchased.

The Phi Taus entered the annual Homecoming decoration contest with a display depicting a fisherman hauling in a Grove City football player in his net. The following weekend the group played host to a group of children from the Orphans Home in Mars, Pennsylvania, for the football game between the Titans and Geneva.

An all-college dance, with a theme of "The Haunted Castle", was held by the fraternity October 30 in "Old 77" with a capacity crowd attending.

Other events on the fraternity social calendar included monthly house parties or open-houses, the annual Christmas formal held at Pine Valley, in Pittsburgh, the Easter formal, and the annual Spring picnic.

In November the group took in a fine group of fifteen pledges. Ralph Scott was elected president of the pledges, with Roger Kelsey as vice president. A banquet in honor of the pledge class was held November 20 at the Village Smorgasbord.

Phi Tau was active in intramural athletics this year, entering teams in the touch football league, the basketball and baseball leagues, and the post-season and pre-season basketball tournaments.

Officers for the fraternity this year were William Meyer, president; Albert Schartner, vice president; Lee Corey, secretary; Gerald Hurd, treasurer; and William Kimpel, sergeant-at-arms.

A touch of India was added to New Wilmington when a Buddha temple was erected on the Sigma Nu fraternity grounds as the fraternity's contribution to the annual Homecoming celebration. The temple consisted of an idol with six moveable arms, and two dog-like statues in the front yard.

The house was again transformed for the Fall house parties with the development of a Greenwich Village theme in October and a Hillbilly theme in November. David Sampson arranged the plans for the Christmas formal held at the Pines.

Third Row: Thomas Finlay, John Metz, John Hamilton, Bradford Estep, Kenneth Wilson.

The easy life

The spring social activities included open houses, house parties, and were highlighted by the Easter formal and annual May picnic.

Our athletic program started well, when we won the intramural football trophy. We also participated in intramural basketball in both pre-season and post-season tournaments.

Other activities included participating in the national Sigma Nu "Help Week" and a party for the Mercer County Orphan's Home.

As pledge president, Robert Speers guided the activities of the 25 new pledges. Their main project was renovating the cellar.

Officers elected for the year were Donald Carroll, Commander; James Brill, Lieutenant Commander; Arthur Menno, Treasurer; and George Lindow, Recorder.

Sigma Phi Epsilon, Westminster's oldest fraternity, was organized in 1854, just two years after the founding of the college. It was first known as Pi Rho Phi, also as the Cross of the Hearts. In 1869, the local organization was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta, but lost its charter when the entire chapter was abolished by the college. It existed sub-rosa until 1923 when it received the Theta Upsilon charter. In 1938, this organization received national affiliation as the Lambda chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

During the past year, the Sig Ep's enjoyed a well-rounded social calendar. Many attended the monthly house parties, and one of the most memorable events of the social year was the annual Christmas dance held at Shannopin country club in Pittsburgh. Other events included numerous Mother's club meetings and alumni gatherings. The Spring formal and the annual picnic in May completed the social year.

In athletics this year, the Sig Ep's entered teams in the intramural football, basketball, and baseball leagues. And they were especially active in the pre-season and post-season basketball tournaments.

The climax of the rushing season in November, found the fraternity with 39 new pledges. Pledgemasters Harry Sampson and Fred Suppes helped the group undertake the remodeling and painting of the house. The downstairs lounge was dedicated to the memory of Fred George and Jerry Sybert.

Officers for 1952 were, Edwin Urbin, president; Herbert Porter, vice president; James Bowser, secretary; and Thomas Specker, treasurer.

This Is The Land—

Here you can make your own decisions . . . enjoy a freedom unknown in almost any other country. Here there's no limit for the ambitious . . . no restraining hold on any who desire to advance.

These are the qualities that have made our land great . . . these qualities will insure its greatness in the future. Your own future will depend in large measure on how well you uphold the traditions of America.

Dances, house parties—these are all part of sorority life. The leisure time spent singing, playing bridge, or just talking with the girls is long remembered. The hours spent on Homecoming and Sing and Swing are well spent as girls learn to work together and enjoy it.

The friendships made through these associations with your sorority sisters will outlive the memories of the dances and parties, making your life richer.

Experiences such as sorority life are a vital part of a college education and teach something that cannot be found in books—the art of living and working harmoniously with all types of people.

A Fraternity is more than a group of fellows who wear the same pin. A Fraternity does more than throw novel house parties and formals, compete for trophies, and serenade girls' dormitories. These activities play a large part in college living, but the benefits gained from participating in fraternity activities plays a larger part in life as college days are left behind. The cooperation required to make all ventures successful can best be learned by working in a group, such as a fraternity, when people with varied interests meet to share their experiences. Fraternity life broadens the individual interests and gives him a well-rounded personality as he completes his education

SEWALL'S

The News Bureau can again take possession of its window sills, and the U. P. news machine can tick away without fear of its releases becoming entangled with Argo proofs fluttering from the window sill, which during the past six months has been this publication's main office.

As with its predecessors, a number of people have contributed to make the publication of this book an accomplished fact. Deserving of special mention is Dr. Amy Charles of the English department. She came to the rescue when a crisis hit the Argo staff photography department, and many of the photographs throughout the book are examples of this one of her many talents. As it is so often normal to find Miss Elizabeth Nixon's name coupled with that of Dr. Charles, here is no exception. Miss Nixon, as advisor, has given valuable assistance in direction and advice on technical details.

With regard to professional people, taking them in the order in which their work was done. Thanks are due to Bill Abey and Harry Ford of Abey Studios for many excellent pictures. To Mrs. Helen Dougherty of Northern Engraving and Electrotype Company I say thank you for the patience she showed, and the advice she gave. And similarly, to Mr. Walter L. Wyant of Kurtz Bros., our printers. His work came last, but certainly not least, and his advice was always to the point.

Many members of the faculty and staff, and students of all departments have been most patient in answering innumerable questions, and heeding many unusual requests. Also, appreciation is due to Mr. Joseph Friedheim and his staff at Jamieson Memorial Hospital, New Castle, and to Mrs. Morrison the hospital's educational director.

To the Argo staff I say thank you. Especially do I appreciate the work done by George Benaman as advertising manager, Margaret Jones as associate editor, and Patricia Rinesmith and James Anderson for the work they did. Janice Slemons and Clarissa Fuller did not join the staff until later, but they proved they had a place there, and helped considerably with the typing.

Now The Argo 1954 stands at the end of the long line of Argos, which place it will hold until joined next year by The Argo 1955.
